Win Warren Regional

Wrestlers on target for state showdown

Antioch's pace setting wrestling team is right on schedule in its quest for the state wrestling title after sweeping through the IHSA regional meet at Warren last weekend.

Seven Sequoias captured championships in their weight class and one took second as Antioch ran away with team honors as well.

Total team score was 152 points. Second place went to Waukegan West with 105½, then Warren with 78, Grant 51, Waukegan East 50, Grayslake 44½, Zion Benton 37½ and Round Lake 12.

"We're right on target, where we should be," said Coach Ted DeRousse after his team's outstanding effort at Warren.

"We hope to go on now to win the sectional title and then aim for the state championship.

"You can always do better unless you have 12 champions, but we're proud of the effort last week," said DeRousse. Antioch now advances to sectionals at Barrington, Feb. 18 and 19. Action starts at 5 p.m. Friday and sessions will be at 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. Saturday.

Champions and their weight classes for Antioch were Jeff Nieze (119), David Mannina (126), Tad DeRousse (132), Steve Case (138), Andy Lehn (145), George Besette (155), and Billy Carney (185). Ken Sandrik finished second at 98 pounds.

Good news in The News

Hidden historian?

According to the Lakes Region Historical Society's President Al Little, the village of Antioch has harbored a heretofore unknown historian in the person of Village Atty. Ken Clark.

After a successful run at the Antioch Rotary Club meeting, Clark has been asked, and has consented, to speak to the historical society on the involvement of Antioch and the lakes region area and its residents in the Civil War.

The meeting and talk will take place at 7:30 p.m., on Thursday, Feb. 24, at the State Bank of Antioch.

Seminars continue

Beth Martin, community economic development specialist for the Illinois Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs, will present "Downtown Revitalization" to chamber members and guests at the Feb. 22 ongoing educational seminar at the Tower Room.

Martin's expertise lies in setting up community economic programs at the local level. Martin will also speak on the Illinois Certified Cities Program.

The cost of the luncheon is $7.50 per person and will begin promptly at noon.

This program promises to be of interest to everyone. Please call Chamber Executive Secretary Dixie Sparks for more information and reservations before Thursday, Feb. 17, at (312)395-2233.

Laundromat cleaned out

Another of many recent burglaries of commercial establishments in Antioch was committed at 11:23 p.m., on Wednesday, Feb. 9, when the Family Pride Laundromat was broken into.

According to Antioch Police Lt. Tom Fisher, the police were called by the owners of Foods Unlimited, next to the laundromat in the North Ave. Mall. They reported that someone was attempting to break into the rear of their establishment.

No one was found when the police arrived but a check by Fisher showed that the window in the rear door of the laundromat had been removed.

Two coin machines had been broken into and money had been taken from them.

Referendum to decide Fire Dist. annexation

Approximately 40 voters, all residents of The Fox River Springs Subdivision in Antioch Township, will be eligible to vote on the referendum annexing their area to the Antioch Fire Dist.

The referendum will be on the Feb. 22 ballot and voters will vote at their regular polling place, the Antioch Upper Grade School.

The residents of Fox River Springs recently petitioned the Lake County Board for the annexation that will allow their area to be under the protection of the Antioch Fire Dept.

Chamber will sponsor Crime Stoppers talk

Dan Dugenske, chairman of the first Antioch Chamber of Commerce general membership meeting announced that a program of vital interest to the entire area will be presented on Thursday, March 3, at the Country House.

A Crime Stoppers program will be presented by Antioch Police Chief Chuck Miller and Lt. Ron Hauri of the Waukegan Police Dept., where the program originated and is in effect.

"No one is immune from crime," said Dugenske, as he extended a serious invitation to all organizations, area subdivisions and the general public to attend the program.

Miller and Hauri will explain how Crime Stoppers works and how the public can be a part of it.

Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m., dinner at 7:30 p.m., and the program will go on at 8:30. The cost is $7.50 per person for dinner.

Contact Chamber Executive Secretary Dixie Sparks for information and reservations at (312)395-2233. Deadline for reservations is Tuesday, March 1.

Beer, wine may be put on menus

The licensing committee of the Antioch Village Board will be reviewing the possibility of the village issuing beer and wine licenses to restaurants in the village.

The interest in such an issuance was brought on when Pizza Plus expressed interest in opening up a restaurant in the empty store that formerly housed Western Auto, at the intersection of Rtes. 59 and 173.

The Vault and other Antioch restaurants have previously asked for such a license, according to Mayor Ray Toft.

If the licensing committee recommends the move, and if it is subsequently approved by the village board, the board would then have to set the number of such licenses to be issued inside the village limits.

Randy Hahn still critical

According to Gloria Ralieg of the University of Illinois Hospital, Randy Hahn, 8, was still in critical condition on Monday, Feb. 14.

Hahn was taken to that hospital after he went into the icy waters of Cross Lake along with his father, George Hahn and Mark Shipman, his stepbrother, on Saturday, Feb. 5, when the three were riding a snowmobile on the lake.

Rib tickler tops menu at Andre's show

by GLORIA DAVIS

"Accommodations," the latest tidbit on Andre's theatrical menu, is intimate sex comedy gourmet style. The play, the type of small cast, light sex comedy, that Andre's American Repertory System's (ARTS) specializes in, though not artistically important, is made enjoyable by a talented cast.

Its the story of two female roommates that get a surprise when the third "roomie" turns out to be male with a unisex name. Add a jealous husband and you have it all.

The drunk scene in the second act, done hysterically by Pam Guardi and Harry Bartlett, is a real rib tickler. Director Barb Miller's staging is great in this one.

Guardi has a ball emoting in several different costumes and Yvonne Alton plays the love-starved matron as well as she usually does, being no newcomer to that type of part, looking as attractive as always.

Glen Stevens does well as the surprise male roommate but I found it hard to believe the serious student angle. Maybe that's because he was so convincing in other ARTS rolls that had little resemblance to the studious Tracy.

I really liked Bartlett's husband, played with just the right balance of straight comedy.

As always the food is good and the theatrical company comparable at Andre's in Richmond.

PM&L's 'Mornings' job well done!

by JEAN RYBICKI

PM&L's latest offering, "Morning's At Seven," is a thoroughly enjoyable comedy, starting with the authentic set constructed and designed by Hank Apostal and his talented crew.

Apostal outdid himself by seemingly building two houses on-stage, complete with a realistic tree.

Each player was perfectly cast and it was no surprise that lone-time PM&Ler's, Shirley Jensen as Ida, and Ann Marie Cina as Esther, both gave excellent performances.

Mickey Mandel was delightfully timid, Regina Lightfoot a most believable troublemaker, and Dena Fabry a very convincing Myrtle.

On the distaff side, Mark Heller turned in an outstanding performance as Homer, with Frank Greenwood, Gerry Mandel and Lou Jones all running a gamut of emotions to keep the audience entertained and interested.

Barb Lovelance's costumes did her credit. This is one that Director Tom Hausman can be proud of.

The show's pace was fast and consistent and I was sorry to see a job so well done end.

The show will be playing Feb. 18, 19, 20, 25 and 26 and this reviewer urges you not to let this one slip by.

Wauconda, Grayslake, Johnsburg and Antioch.

Bucar new president of young county GOP

At the annual meeting of the Lake County Young Republicans Organization, the elections of officers for the executive board were held.

The meeting started off with the nominating committee reading their report they had prepared for this meeting. This committee was selected by the president to make a slate to present to the organization. After the slate was read, nominations were taken from the floor.

The vote was taken for each office with James Bucar, of Antioch, becoming the new president of the club. Bill Gill, of Zion, became the new vice-president along with Carol Ann Fischer, of Libertyville, becoming secretary, and Anthony Pastella, of Waukegan, becoming correspondence secretary.

Veda Moretti, of Highland Park, retained her officer of treasurer for another term which will last until the next annual meeting, held in January of 1984, when elections will be held again.

Immediately after the elections, the club got down to business with the new president, Bucar, presiding. The adoption of three proposals by Bill Gill and Anthony Pastella were the major business of the night.

All three proposals were passed which called for the formation of a standing public relations committee, a standing membership committee, and a standing constitution and by-laws committee.

A fourth proposal calling for a standing finance committee will be voted on in the next meeting of the club to be held on Feb. 21, at the College of Lake County Lakeshore Center on Genesee St. in Waukegan.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. The guest speaker will be State Rep. Robert Churchill.

Any person wanting information on the next meeting can call Bucar at (312) 395-3919, or Carol Ann Fischer at (312) 367-6539. Any age is welcomed to join.

When I think about it Court processes can put Justice in nursing home

by GLORIA DAVIS

Anyone who follows crime and arrests in the daily and weekly papers on a regular basis must notice that arrest and arraignment can, in most cases, be just the beginning of a long drawn-out legal process.

Not to disparage the fact that both the defense and the prosecution should be given sufficient time to prepare the court case, it is very possible that, more often than not, the constant continuing of cases is just legal chicanery perpetrated by both or either sides.

Many defense lawyers stretch and stretch a case, sometimes not even knowing the particulars, in hopes that witnesses will find testifying harder the longer the space between the incident and the actual trial.

It is not uncommon for arresting officers to be no longer on the force, witnesses to have died or completely disappeared when it comes time for them to testify and judges often change many times during the continuance process.

I know of two cases where it took three years for the case to actually go before the courts and in that space of time the district attorney was a judge by the time that the case came up.

Although this is what is known as the fair democratic court process, there are many unfair results when it is so abused by our legal eagles.

Every time a court convenes, even if it's just long enough for a continuance to be granted, it costs the taxpayers money.

The advantage of stretching out a case seems to be with the defense and often seems to be employed when all the apparent evidence points to the guilt of the defendant.

In most cases the accused are out on bond, and if by chance they are guilty of some crime, are perfectly free to continue committing the same crime.

This has often been the case in rape cases where rapists have struck again and again

News/OPINION

Guest editorials are also invited. They should be a minimum of 250 words and signed. The editor reserves the right to condense all material addressed to this page.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Congratulations to Julianne Susan Pawlowski, who has been chosen to be listed as one of the 23,000 outstanding young American women in the 1982 edition of "Outstanding Young Women of America."

More congrats to Jennifer Belluci who has been listed on the fall semester dean's list at St. Joseph College in Rensselaer, Ind..

She is a junior majoring in biology and chemistry.

Annie May really admires anyone who can get good marks in these courses since she was guilty of putting a white oak label under a poison ivy leaf in her high school biology leave book.

Happy Birthday to a lovely young lady who works in the village hall. Her fast advancing age stops me from identifying her, but I heard somewhere that she has a locally famous relative.

Will the economy moves of our federal government never stop? Last week, while purchasing stamps for letter mailing, I found that one stamp wouldn't stick to the envelope and I was forced to purchase another one so I could be sure that my letter reached its destination safely.

I was told by a postal employe that "there is a thin layer of glue on the stamps and they have to be licked lightly."

So, not only is the postal department economizing by making the stamps smaller and smaller and putting less glue on the back, it is now endeavoring to help us save our saliva.

Does this bring to mind the fun you've had picking your groceries up off of the street lately when they burst the confines of those tissue thin grocery bags?

Looks like we have the parents of a sorority celebrity in our midst. Carol and Jerry Jenkins' little girl, Diana Lynn has just been accepted as a member of the Beta Iota Chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston, Ill..

Thanks to Antioch's VFW, Antioch's finest will be wearing safety vests.

Happy Valentines Day to all the readers of the Antioch News, Annie May loves you all!!!

while awaiting trial on the same charge.

Dope pushers have been arrested for the same offense while their lawyer is playing his little chess game at justice's expense.

In the case of counties with large populations, ergo higher crime rates, this causes a real traffic jam in the courts that holds up those cases involving people who are looking for expedient justice.

There are those who lay the bulk of the blame for this legal taffy pulling on the judges that allow lawyers to get a continuance for the flimsiest of reasons.

I heard of a case that had been continued 36 times in a span of six years. The charge was burglary. The accused had been caught inside the burglarized premises with the stolen goods on his person.

By the time it finally came to trial the whole case fell apart because the elderly person that was robbed could not testify because he was in a nursing home and completely senile.

The arresting officer had been killed in a war and the accused burglar had been arrested and convicted and was already serving a sentence for another burglary. By the way, conviction on the pending charge I was referring to would have made him a three-time loser, the kind the jail cell key is thrown away on.

Just recently the papers were full of two men who had been charged with reckless homicide and driving while intoxicated and, or, under the influence of drugs.

Both were picked up for continuing to inject drugs and alcohol while awaiting and during their trials and it took the final arrests for the same offenses, while their appeals were pending, to finally put them in a jail cell.

Justice may be blind but she surely shouldn't be slow-witted or too crippled-up to bang the gavel after a reasonable time is allowed for defense and prosecution so a verdict can be reached.

AARP clarifies regulations

President Ruth Rynders presided at the social meeting of Antioch Chapter 387, American Assn. of Retired Persons, held at the Antioch Senior Center.

Francis Winiecki, attendance chairman, announced there were 172 members and guests present.

Members were told of the illness of Esther Alani, assistant state director, who is a patient at Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan.

For those members who wish help on preparing their income tax reports, Ted Juergens will be at the Antioch Senior Center every Tuesday beginning Feb. 1 to assist them.

Members enjoyed sandwiches and cake served by the kitchen committee under the direction of Milly Milowski.

After the meeting a travelogue of a cruise to Mexico was presented by the Antioch Travel Agency.

Next meeting is on Tuesday, Feb. 8. Bring sandwiches. Cake will be served.

The following will help to clarify the policy regarding membership in the chapter:

Antioch Chapter has a membership which, at present, includes members from towns surrounding Antioch. However, because of the regulation enacted in October, 1982, which limited membership to 300, it became necessary to restrict future membership to Antioch residents only.

Non-members may attend a limit of two meetings as guests. They cannot attend any functions of the chapter unless they become members. If they wish to join but live outside of Antioch, their names will be placed on a waiting list until the restriction is lifted.

Blanche Babic, chairman of the Membership Committee, will accept dues from present members through March 1. If renewal dues are not paid by that date, members will risk cancellation of their membership.

Because of the demand for membership in the chapter, it has become necessary to enforce the above rules. We hope members and friends will understand the necessity for this action.

TMJ SYNDROME

Question: What is TMJ Syndrome?

Answer: Those letters stand for Temporomandibular Joint Syndrome, a painful disorder that comes when chewing muscles and the joints of the jaw refuse to work harmoniously. A poor bite, tension, stress and habit patterns can cause clenching or grinding of teeth. This cyclic abuse of the chewing muscles can lead to muscle spasm and pain... and ultimately, to TMJ Syndrome. Other causes are accidents that damage the bones of the face and jaw. Even diseases such as arthritis can play a contributing role.

The family dentist can often treat this problem. Wet heat applications and muscle relaxants help, and intra-oral splints and bite plates can do away with the negative effects of teeth-clenching. Counseling can ease the emotional stress that brings on TMJ symptoms; surgery is a last resort in cases of extreme damage.

Lake Zurich, Warren dash cage title hopes

A sloppy, defensive struggle with Warren and a shot at the buzzer by Lake Zurich spelled doom to any hopes the Antioch Sequoit basketball team had of capturing the NWSC title in 1983.

Friday against Lake Zurich, the Sequoits' come from behind hopes were dashed when Joe Mikusa sank his field goal at the buzzer to give the Bears a 65-63 win over Antioch.

The Sequoits, down by eight after three quarters, struggled all night from behind. But with six seconds left they had knotted the game at 63. "We had confidence that if it went into overtime we could do the job," said Coach Don Zeman.

"We played well offensively and outshot them from the field and at the freethrow line. It was just a matter of not stopping (Steve) Anderson who had 20 points for them," Zeman added.

Dan Berkiel led Antioch with 14 points, followed by John Humphreys with 12 and Phil Aschbacher with 10. Berkiel was leading rebounder with eight and Chris Becker added seven.

In the Warren game, both teams demonstrated an inability to score until the fourth quarter. After three quarters, Warren led 25-21. "Warren shot poorly the first half and we shot poorly the whole game," said Zeman. "It was a combination of good defense and poor shooting."

The 50-40 loss destroyed any chance Antioch might have held on to of catching Warren for the title.

Warren came alive, outscoring Antioch 25-19 in the fourth quarter for the win. The Sequoits shot only 11 of 34 from the field for 32 percent. "We just shot too poorly to win," said Zeman. Aschbacher led Antich with 11 points in the game and was the only scorer in double figures for the Sequoits.

Zeman expects a tough game Friday, Feb. 18 against Wauconda. "Coach Judson has Wauconda playing a tenacious and aggressive defense which always seems to give us trouble," noted Zeman.

And the coaching staff will have no trouble getting Antioch up for its Saturday game with Grayslake. The Rams beat Antioch in overtime in January.

AARP offers tax help

Tax authorities estimate that one-third to one-half of older Americans, who file Federal Income Tax returns this year, will pay more tax than the law requires.

MOST AMERICANS are confused by the complexities of our tax laws. But for older citizens, who must cope with the different treatment of retirement income and special credits and deductions to which they may be entitled, preparing an income tax return can be a nightmare of frustration.

To make matters worse, many older persons who unknowingly overpay their taxes may feel they cannot afford the services of a professional tax preparer or accountant. But, fortunately, they can look to another source of help.

Since 1969, the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) has sponsored a nation-wide Tax-Aide/Tax Counseling for the Elderly program, in which older volunteers, after a training period, provide free tax counseling to other older citizens as a public service.

VOLUNTEER tax counselors are trained by the Internal Revenue Service and certified to offer confidential tax consultation to help persons 60 years of age and older understand the various forms and special exemptions available to older citizens.

TAX-AIDE is one of the service programs of the 14-million member AARP, the nation's largest membership organization dedicated to helping retired persons achieve lives of independence, dignity and purpose.

The Tax-Aide site in Antioch is at the Antioch Senior Center, 817 Holbek Dr. Seniors may walk-in from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., on Tuesdays.

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

Dr. R. A. Sona,

NEED MORE LIGHT?

It amazes adults when they discover children reading a book or magazine in poor light or shadows. How can they do it? Young, healthy eyes can compensate for a lack of light because their focusing muscles are stronger and more flexible. But they'll get eye strain if they do this too often or for long periods of time. The eyes need light to see well.

This is especially true for older people. When the light is right, most older people can do any difficult job, from repairing broken furniture to fine needle work.

The best kind of lighting is a diffused light that covers a large area and eliminates glare. Glare can come from light shining directly into your eyes. Or it can come from light reflected off shiny surfaces.

It's a good idea to have more than one light on in a room. Then, when you leave the brightly-lit area you're not walking into shadows.

Resting your eyes from time to time is also helpful. So are regular eye checkups.
